The Cross of Dogwood

A Legend

Ethel Tozier

David, the little Jewish boy, munched the sweet figs his mother had given him as he hurried up the pathway leading to his favorite spot under the flowering Dogwood Tree. It always provided just the right amount of shade when the sun rose high in the heavens.

As he reached the grassy slope, he jerked to quick attention, just as he did in school, when the Rabbi's bony knuckles rapped for order. He rubbed his eyes in a quick effort to wipe away the sight that stunned him. Trembling hands clutched spasmodically at the brightly colored tunic.

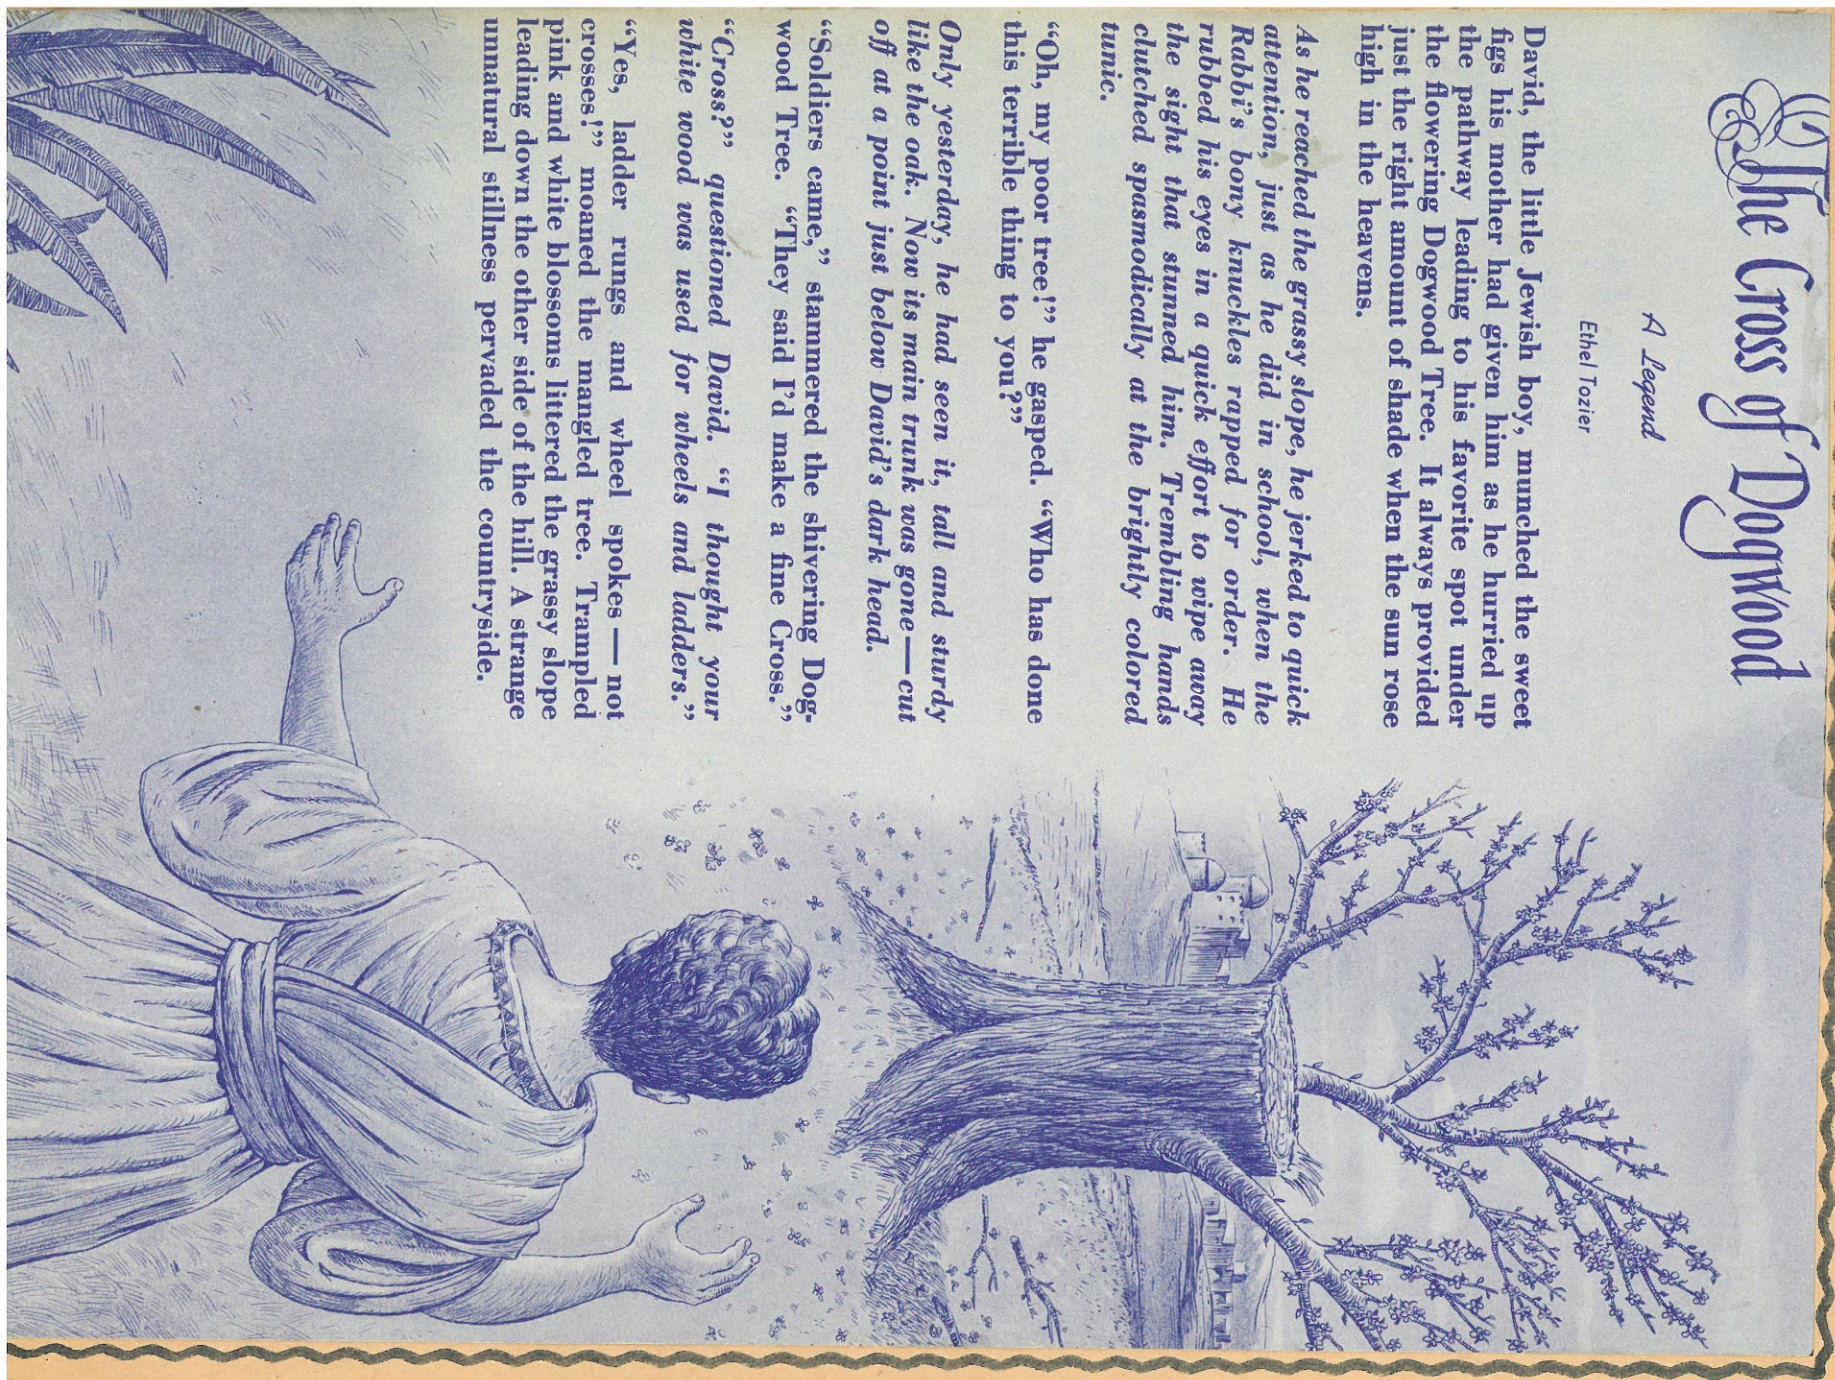

"Oh, my poor tree!" he gasped. "Who has done this terrible thing to you?"

Only yesterday, he had seen it, tall and sturdy like the oak. Now its main trunk was gone — cut off at a point just below David's dark head.

"Soldiers came," stammered the shivering Dogwood Tree. "They said I'd make a fine Cross."

"Cross?" questioned David. "I thought your white wood was used for wheels and ladders."

"Yes, ladder rungs and wheel spokes — not crosses!" moaned the mangled tree. Trampled pink and white blossoms littered the grassy slope leading down the other side of the hill. A strange unnatural stillness pervaded the countryside.

Rock of Ages

Triplady

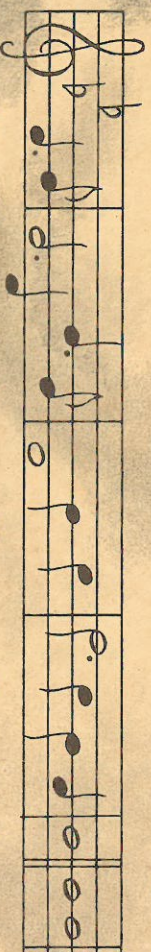

T. Hastings, 1830

Rock of ages, cleft for me, let me hide myself in Thee;

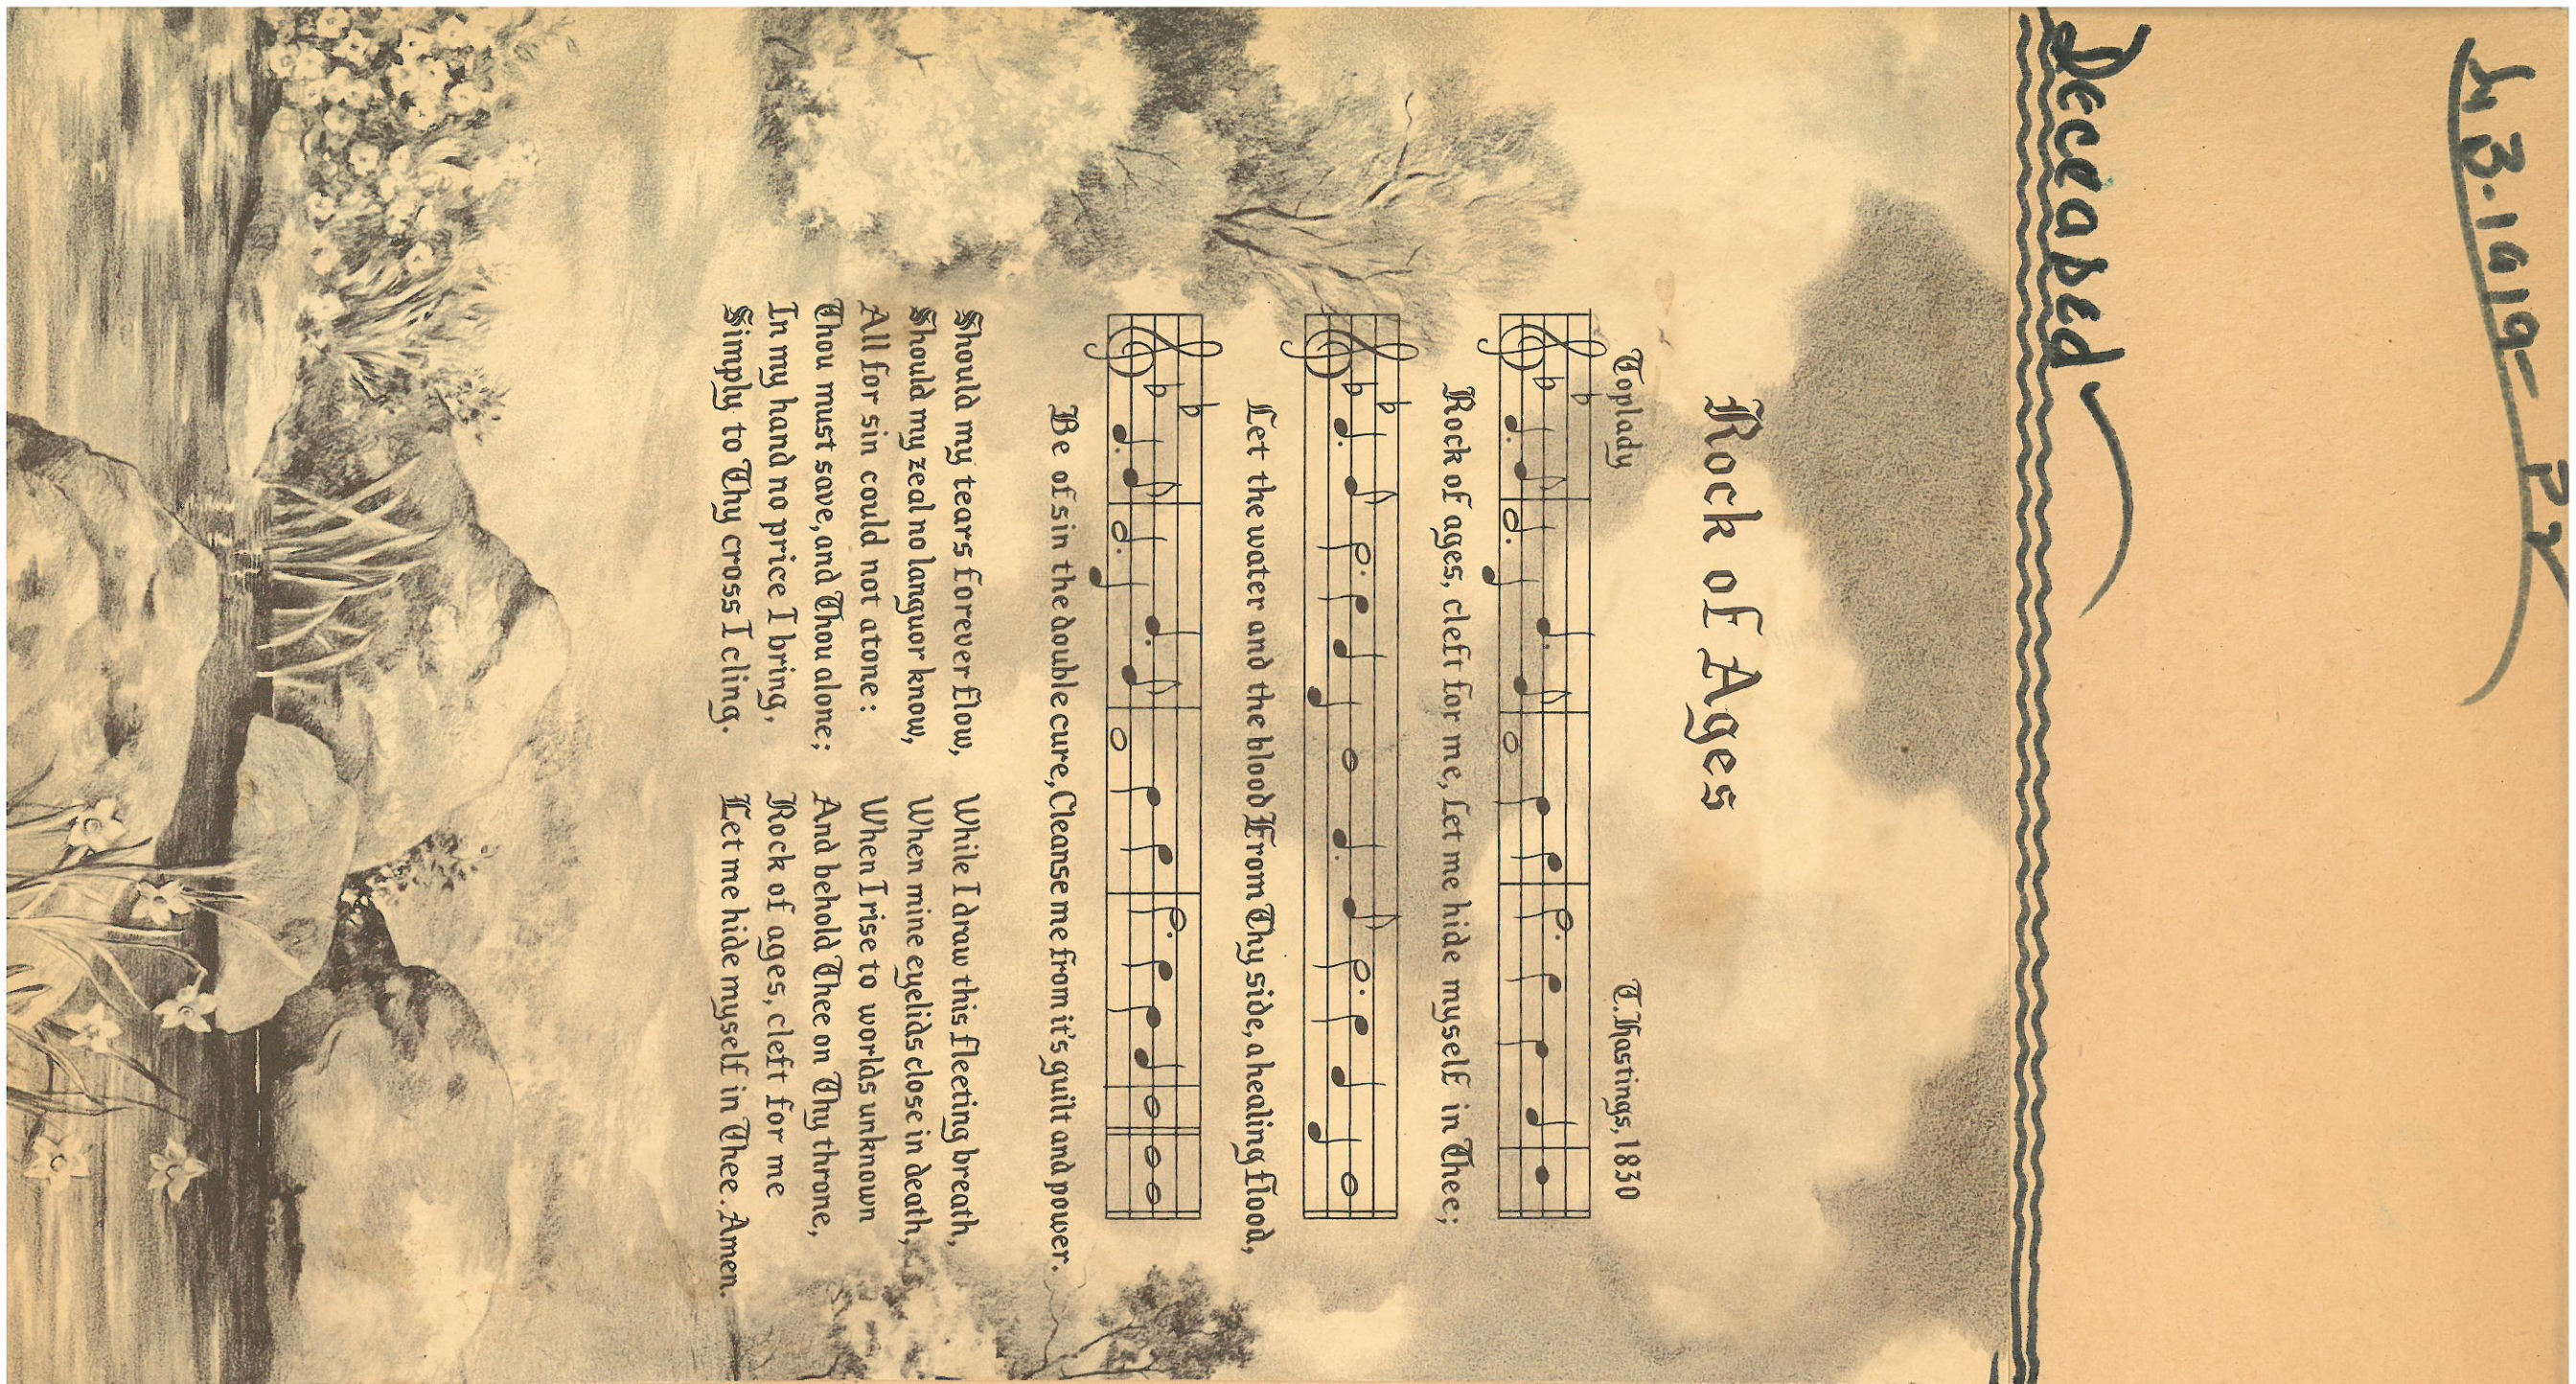

Let the water and the blood from Thy side, a healing flood,

Be of sin the double cure, Cleanse me from it's guilt and power.

Should my tears forever flow,
Should my zeal no languor know,
All for sin could not atone:
Thou must save, and Thou alone;
In my hand no price I bring,
Simply to Thy cross I cling.

While I draw this fleeting breath,
When mine eyelids close in death,
When I rise to worlds unknown
And behold Thee on Thy throne,
Rock of ages, cleft for me
Let me hide myself in Thee. Amen.

STRONG BONDS OF OUR TIMES we recapture our moods of yesteryear. These songs help us to remember the year we fell in love — the tune to which we first danced together — the year we were married — the year our child was born — the year we went to war — or some other notable event which proved to be a milestone in our lives.

address the Senate and tour the country, speaking directly to the people in an attempt to rouse enthusiasm for U.S. membership in the League of Nations. Under a mental as well as physical strain, he spent so much of his energy that he became seriously ill and had to discontinue his trip.

Don

It was hard to tell whether Wilson had failed or succeeded as an evangel of peace. The Treaty of Versailles was finally signed in June, but in November the U.S. Senate rejected the League of Nations. May Day brought out the usual labor parades and symbols of protest. It was the signal of what was alleged to be a nationwide plot to assassinate jurists and cabinet members. Thirty-six bombs were discovered in the mail but, since none of them detonated, no one was blown up. Other parades followed — those for homecoming soldiers continued to be exciting spectacles in every large city and small community. There was, however, one sour note. The Prohibition Amendment had been sent to the States for ratification, and soldiers returning from Europe demonstrated against those who had passed the Amendment "behind their backs."

The Women's Suffrage Amendment passed the Senate and was ratified. Delegates representing units of the A.E.F. (American Expeditionary Force) met in Paris and formed the American Legion. Tammany seemed to be losing its grip; at last it lost the New York City elections. Fiorello H. LaGuardia was elected President of the Board of Aldermen. The Prince of Wales made his first visit to this country as "Ambassador of Good Will." His pleasing personality helped cement the bonds between America and England. Germany made its contribution to world peace when German sailors scuttled and sank all their ships interned at Scapa Flow.

Strikes were prevalent in almost every trade; even actors and grave-diggers were involved. More than four million workers struck, walked out, or were locked out. A new type of double-decker bus appeared in Chicago. It was suggested that this type of vehicle might relieve traffic congestion on Fifth Avenue in New York City. It was introduced in quantities, but it didn't help much.

Bobbed hair was seen everywhere and gigliolos made their first social appearance. Women's dresses were "sensational" at 4 inches above the ankle. High shoes with moiré silk tops were extremely popular. Silk stockings cost $5.75 a pair; hats came with huge brims, fussy, floppy, highly perishable decorations. Some of the leading automobiles of the day were Coles and Wintons, although Buicks and Packards were popular. You could get a fancy Hot Spot Chalmers for $1,685.00.

The big sports event of the year happened at Toledo, Ohio. On the 4th of July, Jack Dempsey, 187 pounds, knocked out Jess Willard, who weighed 245, in the third round. A pitcher and utility outfielder with the Boston Red Sox batted out a record total of 29 home runs for the season. His name was George Herman Ruth, and he was to become the small boy's idol as "Babe" Ruth. In the World Series the Cincinnati Reds (National League) beat the Chicago White Sox (American League) in a four-drawn-out contest, five to three. In those days rules of the game required that the winner had to win five out of nine games instead of four out of seven. Although not strictly in the realm of sports, in Holland ex-Kaiser Wilhelm saved his 12,000th log on September 19th.

One of the best oddities of the year came out of Atlantic City, where an undertaker presented actress Lillian Russell with a gold-trimmed coffin. It was valued at $27,000.

Jack Alcock and Lieutenant Arthur Brown landed their airplane in a peat bog in Ireland, 16 hours and 20 minutes after their take-off from St. Johns, Newfoundland. They carried with them the first transatlantic airmail from the United States to the British Isles and won the London Daily Mail $50,000 prize for the first non-stop flight across the ocean. A United States Navy seaplane, NC-4, flew to America; an English dirigible, R-34, flew to America; and back.

It was a good year for music-lovers. Augustus D. Juilliard left five million dollars to establish the Juilliard Musical Foundation. George Eastman gave three and a half million to found the Eastman School of Music.

Literature was news when James Branch Cabell's Jurgen became the sensation of the hour. Frowned on by purists and Puritans, it was relished by thousands who had never read any of Cabell's numerous other works. Another book of Cabell's numerous considered "not for open shelves" was Somerset Maugham's The Moon and Sixpence, a novel which has since become a classic. Booth Tarkington's The Magnificent Ambersons won the Pulitzer Prize for the best novel of the previous season. The Pulitzer Prize in biography was posthumously awarded to Henry Adams for The Education of Henry Adams, and the prize for poetry was divided between Carl Sandburg's Cornhuskers, and Margaret Widdemer's Old Pound to Furthest.

Theaters were crowded. Metropolitan playhouses had no difficulty getting $5.50 for a seat downstairs. The first hit of the New York season was The Woman in Room 13, a melodrama which starred Janet Beecher, Lowell Sherman, and Charles Waldron. It was succeeded by the farcical Up in Mabel's Room, which ran for 229 performances. The fall season was crammed with hits. The light comedy Adam and Eve had 312 performances. Moonlight and Honey achieved brilliantly starred Ruth Chatterton. Avery Hopwood's The Gold Diggers, starring Ina Claire, ran to 282 performances before it closed. Partners, which was gradually turning into jazz, but the songs of the year were full of sentiment. People sang and sighed during the playing of "Smilin' Through," "Your Eyes Have Told Me So," "Let the Rest of the World Go By," "I Might Be Your 'Once-in-a-While' Boy," "Tulip Time," and "Irene." "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," and "On Miami Shore," Irving Berlin's "Mandy" and the Gershwin-Caesar "Swanee" set all feet dancing. The tunes and rhythms kept on echoing for years.

The HONORS OF OUR TIMES Long Play records include the hit tunes of each year, 1917 through 1943—each year on a separate Decca Long Play record. Be sure to ask for your favorite year.

With someone like you, a pal good and true,
I'd like to leave it all behind and go and find,
Some place that's known to God alone —
Just a spot to call our own.
We'll find perfect peace,
Where joys never cease,
Out there beneath a kindly sky,
We'll build a sweet little nest,
Somewhere in the west,
And let the rest of the world go by.

To be glad of life because it gives you the chance to love and to work and to play and to look up at the stars; to be satisfied with your possessions but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world except falsehood and meanness, and to fear nothing except cowardice; to be governed by your admirations rather than by your disgusts; to covet nothing that is your neighbor's except his kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends, and every day of Christ; and to spend as much time as you can, with body and with spirit, in God's out-of-doors . . . these are little guideposts on the footpath to peace.

50 Acres Goes Up

About 50 acres of thick, tall wheat went up in black smoke last Thursday afternoon in a fire at the Louis Schaefer farm northwest of Ritzville.

A broken fuel line on a trapwagon apparently caused the blaze which swept across the standing grain and thick stubble with intense heat. Ted Stuhr was driving the trapwagon from one part of the field to where a truck with a flat was being changed.

Stuhr was bringing up wooden blocks to support the truck jack in the soft field. Other workmen observed a fire near where the pickup had started its run. At the truck site flames broke out beneath the pickup, near its front. They were almost put out with a fire extinguisher. Flames were visible from a distance of six miles, firemen related later. As the No. 5 and No. 10 trucks pulled up to the field's edge they were faced with a front of flames a half mile long.

The trapwagon had to be abandoned. The truck was safely removed as was a combine. The intense heat of the fire at the trapwagon apparently melted a breather pipe. Pressure of vaporized gasoline within the tank built up.

As these fumes hit the outside air, hot from the pickup on fire, they ignited. The plume of flame shot straight up in the still air for a 10- to 15-foot height, continuing until contents of the 286-gallon tank had been burned.

Harry Schaefer is the farm operator. No one was hurt or seriously burned in the fight. Almost 48 hours had elapsed since firemen from Ritzville had been called out to fight a wheat fire.

White plume seen issuing above pickup is flame leaping out of 286-gallon gasoline tank. Tank didn't explode, flame continued with steady bright intensity until gasoline was exhausted.

Fire scene was taken Thursday afternoon of last week at Louis Schaefer place. About 50 acres of standing grain burned.

Newspaper clipping on the other side of this card dated Dec. 5, 1929 by my father E. D. Gilson:-
"A. B. Wiltse, who has conducted a grocery and general business on the ground floor of the Gilson Building for several years, on Saturday moved his establishment to the old Ritzville Harness shop quarters on main Avenue."
I thought Mr. Wiltse was an attorney and don't remember his being in the store business when he left Ritzville as I remember he went to Kelso, Washington.

There is no such thing as French-American, English-American, German-American, or any other hyphenated American; we are all from European ancestry, and simply AMERICANS.
Swallow this pill whether you like it or not: "We are all with President Wilson and America;" if he was for any other nation we would ask him to go over and enter the trenches, where every trouble maker belongs. If any want to go, let them go.
Be a man and not a mouse—if you play and win according to the rules, the game is yours; if you lose, take your medicine. Some one has squealed already; let him squeal again. If Germany loses it is all right with America; if England goes to the mat it will not be far to Tip-pe-ra-ry; we'll all grin and bear it.
America is too fair-minded, too humane, too great to enter the business of killing people; we were not raised that way.
Bravery, at this hour, consists in patience, forbearance and long-headed loyalty to our babies, our homes and our nation, America!
What good can we look for from any country that has proven itself such as those countries at war now are?
If the Yankee gets England's money and Germany captures the goods we will not have to go to Tip-pe-ra-ry, but it will come to us. People who will not listen have to feel.
The Turk is not the only man who does wrong when he kills somebody. Who killed the Boers? who killed the Jews? who killed the Americans? and who killed the other fellow?
Can Americans not be proud in future years that their nation held for peace, when she could easily have done like the rest—gone to war? Is there any brighter crown she could wear than that of honest, fair-minded Yankee stars of peace woven into wreaths of patience and good will?
A. B. WILTSE,
Candidate for President.

"I remember Mr. Wiltse very well and and I always regarded him highly in site of a few eccentricities he possessed. I especially admired him when he filed as a candidate for Presiednt of the U.S. which is done by quite a few people at that time of the campaign. I know he had a wife but don't recall any children so I don't know whether Hazel of 1915 and Ruth of 1919 were his or whetner they are related to each other. There was no information on Hazel but Ruth gave a married name and address and she was present at the 50th reunion 5-31-69 Roy Gilson

RITZVILLE HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HISTORY & LIBRARY.

This LIBRARY consists of 75 books with loose-leaf sheets and according to circumstances, can be added, deleted, or altered. RITZVILLE HIGH SCHOOL graduated it's first CLASS in the year of 1905 with 13 students. There is a book for each CLASS beginning with 1905 up to and including 1980. In 1956 the school celebrated it's 50th ANNIVERSARY with a banquet at the Marcelus Grange Hall with over 500 in attendance. Our DIAMOND Jubilee will be in May of 1980 when we will celebrate our 75th year. I have no intention of carrying this history beyond that date.

Each book is 12" x 14" in size and the sheets are reinforced with scotch tape. Each SHEET contains the following information: NAME of each GRADUATE, (full name if possible), address, signature, birthday, names of husband or wife and children, their parents and dates, relatives who graduated or attended RHS, school and college records, marriage, family, activities, death date, trade or profession and where live and work, and any other data or information which can be gathered from newspapers, magazines, letters, interviews or from any other source possible.

I have endeavored to arrange the material in a neat and orderly fashion and the names alphabetically and chronologically when possible. I realize many mistakes have been made in placing correct data in the proper place but so many of the names are duplicated. Mr. Vic Rogel helped me immensely in the identification of families also Mrs. Nabel Burrell and Mrs. Robert Clark. (Miller) and many others too too numerous to mention. Of the faculty Mr. Lloyd was wonderful in his assistance.

I started this record in the month of May, the 25th of May, 1905 when I was present at the first graduation at the Old Congregational Church and obtained the signatures of the graduates on onion skin paper and you will notice that when they signed 50 years later the writing was very similar. I then DEDICATED 3 books to our first SUPERINTENDANT, PROFESSOR. JOHN HENRY PERKINS, who started the RHS Alumni Association that night. (Page 56 large book and ref. Perkins work in the 1905 book.

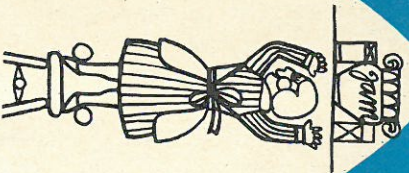

This project has been quite expensive in that I have taken the Journal-Times (2 copies) for many years for information. Also subscribed for the Latveter and purchased 5 or 6 copies each year of the Annual, the Kernel. While visiting the banquet each year hundreds of pictures were taken and I hope placed in the proper place. To do this it took every minute of my spare time of work but I didn't mind any of these things as I enjoyed it so much and I have always been under the impression that it was worth while. That I shall never know for sure. It is my hope that the library will come to rest in the addition that Vic promoted onto the high school building and there they will repose and be available to future generations. If anyone thinks it is necessary to continue the records say on to the year 2000 or more maybe some individual who in his or her dotage has a weakness for cutting out paper dollies, saving clippings from the papers, and pasting in pretty picture books will carry on there must be someone in the around $500 of us who were fortunate enough to have had the opportunity to attend and gather the fruits of knowledge and experience in Ritzville High School, the finest, the best, the most excellent school on earth.

Love to you all

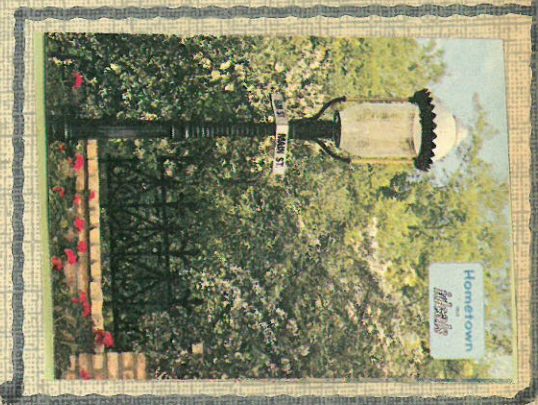

Roy Gilson, Class of 1909.

1919 — LET THE REST OF THE WORLD GO BY

Key G

With someone like you, a pal good and true,
I'd like to leave it all behind and go and find,
Some place that's known to God alone —
Just a spot to call our own.
We'll find perfect peace,
Where joys never cease,
Out there beneath a kindly sky,
We'll build a sweet little nest,
Somewhere in the west,
And let the rest of the world go by.

There was something in the kitchen
of days of long ago,
Which the children of the cities
are not privileged to know.
'Twas a wood stove, warm and glowing,
and the tacks for it were even;
I carried out the ashes
and the wood I carried in:

On baking days my Mother
(there are times I hear her still)
Said: "Remember, in the morning there's the woodbox you must fill."
Then from shed unto the kitchen with arms loaded I would dash,
Till my coat was full of splinters
and my hair was full of ash.

In the kitchen now are gadgets,
and the stoves are lovely things,
But the children very seldom hear the song the kettle sings.
On the ovens for the mothers
are thermometers and clocks,
But since wood is never wanted,
there's no longer any box.

Is the modern way the better?
Well, it's easier, I'd say,
But I'm sure a joy was taken from the youngsters of today,
For they'll never fill a woodbox,
never see a wood stove glow,
And they'll never have such memories
as now are mine to know.
