

The Kernel 1957

Foreword

The search for knowledge, the spirit of good sports, and the molding of ideals all blend to form the memories of this school year. These memories have been portrayed through word and picture in this book. We hope it will give you many pleasant hours of reminiscence in the years ahead.

We, the Annual Staff, are happy to present to you the 1957
KERNEL.

THE KERNEL STAFF

Ritzville High School
Ritzville, Washington

Dedication

"Four things a man must learn to do
If he would make his record true:
To think without confusion clearly;
To love his fellow-men sincerely;
To act from honest motives purely;
To trust in God and Heaven securely."

HENRY VAN DYKE

To YOU who sincerely believe in these four qualities of life
— To YOU who faithfully apply these standards to your everyday life — To YOU who constantly strive for a richer and fuller life by attempting to attain these ideals — To YOU this Kernel is dedicated.

Superintendent of Schools

"Where there is no vision the people perish." Proverbs 29:18.

Faith, hope, imagination, initiative—these are the qualities of character in individuals and nations that have marked the progress of man from savagery to civilization. This second half of the 20th century throws history's greatest challenge for vision and courage to the young men and young women of all peoples. In an atomic age the very survival of mankind is at stake.

May the youth of Ritzville join with the youth of America in lifting their eyes to the highest horizons of the golden future when all races and nations will dwell together in peace, freedom, equality, and justice.

E. FRANK SAYRE

Senior High Principal

An annual is no better than the pictures and the material contained in its pages.

A school is no better than its students, its faculty, its administration, or its facilities. No one phase of a school program can survive or progress without the assistance and support of the other.

Each and every one of us is charged with a specific responsibility. Each must make every effort to carry out this responsibility. Only then can Ritzville High School continue its fine educational program it has enjoyed for so many years.

LLOYD OBERST

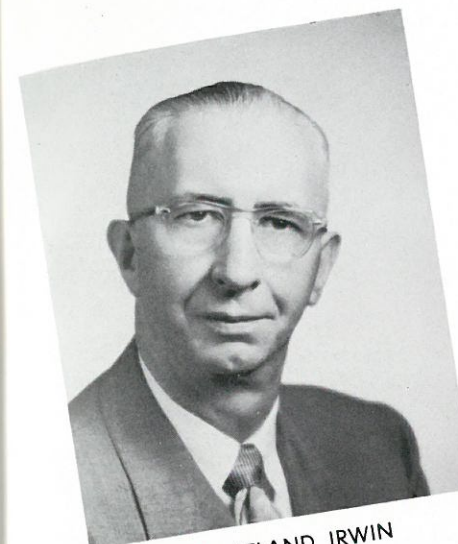

Junior High Principal

The character of the graduating senior is clearly formed at this time. He must be equipped to meet the trials of adult life. The road ahead may either be smooth or rocky depending upon how well he is prepared to meet the future.

I am confident that the qualities which are necessary for successful living have been developed in each member of this fine graduating class.

The Story

Nestled away in the California Hills is tiny, picturesque Green Valley. For a hundred years, the Berry family has owned it. Eldon Berry, the last of the line, is about to lose it to the unscrupulous hands of Tobias J. Everheel.

Right now, the loss will be doubly painful. Strangely, unaccountably, Green Valley has become a little paradise of nature. Everything is growing in rampant profusion: strawberries as big as your fist, sunflowers higher than a house, beanstalks that grow before your very eyes! Most unusual of all is Eldon's cow, Minnie, who gives gallons of milk so rare that those who drink it see people who officially stopped walking the earth many years ago.

Prim Stokes, the native girl in love with Eldon, didn't believe it until the long-dead Lonesome Berry abruptly materialized and beckoned with a ghostly forefinger. And neither did greedy Everheel comprehend until Prudence, a witch-girl from the Golden days led him stumbling to the awe-invoking Garden of Green Valley. Even studious Martha Mears, of the local Historical Society, wasn't convinced until it was almost too late.

Stirred from their eternal rest by the noise of Everheel's tractor and the threat to their Valley, Eldon's ancestors are "riz." Peppery Grampaw, old-fashioned Granny, bearded Jeb, gruff Calhoun, mechanical-minded Lonesome, gigantic Powerful, giggle-witted Ransome, and the witch-gal Prudence have come back to life. As they fade away on the waters of an exploded dam, Prim and Eldon are stirred with a new understanding of life.
